“The Pain of Play”

I am sure I am not the only one who has had a client request something that you either do not cater for, is outside your boundaries or you just have no experience with.

This is what I call “Dangerous Play for Pay”. They are offering money for us to do something we really don’t want to do.

What will win is up to each and everyone of us but I would say one thing step back and ask this question: “If it goes bad will I be able to live with the consequences?”

Often it is those that don’t want to pay a professional mistress that create this situation.

This is some correspondence from a male submissive that I found extremely helpful:

Cane for Pain-OR-Cane to Maim:

A client is a client, and money is money. Yes! But can we treat ourselves to some valuable tips.

All regular and particularly new clients must be treated well by sex workers. One can only hope that a client in turn, will show manners and respect for the sex worker they are visiting. The client will be paying for a sexual service, but the client, albeit he or she, must know the visit is a privilege.

I am a life style male submissive who has served under professional Dominatrix Disciplinary Mistresses over many years. I wish to send a safety message to untrained sex workers and also clients that seek out sex workers who will include corporal punishment on their working menu. The general public would be surprised just how many people visit establishments and private addresses to visit a Dominant Mistress or Master. Sadly and more importantly, a potential dangerous practice for untrained sex workers and clients alike.

My prime concern is a client who engages with an untrained sex worker for corporal punishment and the untrained sex worker with next to zero experience, trying to cater to their clients desires. This all carried out in a non Dominatrix establishment. The sex worker will often cater to the client’s needs as a chance to make money regardless. The usual dead give-away, is the fact that the client has to supply their own implements of correction, or the establishment has next to nothing available to effectively and safely service the client.

The sex worker must know how to correctly position themselves to deliver safe and effective corporal punishment, with correct posture and stance. For example, how to hold and position their hand on a cane or whip. It is highly dangerous to strike the outer upper hip, otherwise known as whip around. This can cause permanent nerve damage. The lower back anywhere is a NO GO ZONE. Behind the knees is another. May I strongly suggest for health and safety of both parties that sex workers seek professional tuition from a professional Dominatrix before they cater to a client. There are plenty of very experienced Dominatrixes in Melbourne only too happy to help.

My message to clients. Do not take injury risks by visiting an untrained Mistress, just because their fee may be substantially lower than visiting a professional Mistress. There is an obvious reason why a visit to a professional Mistress costs a lot more for their highly professionally trained time. It takes a long time to learn well, and they simply just know what they are doing!

A final thought “DONT FOOL YOURSELF”, if you don’t have the right level of experience to complete the requested task safely “DONT DO IT”. If it’s something that FLICKS YOUR WICK, GET TRAINING!

Stay Safe, Lilith.
